Troodos mountains: The white heart of Cyprus

There is nothing more picturesque than Troodos mountains during winter season. While looking out at brilliant greenery and dense pine trees is one thing, the magic of panoramic views shaded with brilliant white is enough to seriously take your breath away. In Cyprus you will not have the chance to experience extremely low temperatures with snow in the cities, so why not escape to the mountains for a day or two. Choose between skiing or snowboarding or even just to relax in one of the cozy hotels there by the fireplace. Just dress warm and enjoy the moment while it lasts.

New library at Jean Moreas building

Casa College is happy to announce that the College's library has moved from Zena Palace to Jean Moreas building. The library provides information, resources and services to fully support all courses and to foster independent study in a pleasant environment, suitable for learning. It is equipped with an excellent collection of publications and scientific journals, but also recreational readings from all over the world. In addition, embracing the new age of technology, for many subjects, e-books are used which can be readily downloaded. Our lovely new librarian Evi Itsa, is there to assist you from 8:00 a.m. until 16:30. And remember: When in doubt, go to the library!
